Workshop information:

This is a 3 day workshop put on by Jefferson County Arts Association and Art Adventure Gallery. It will be taught by well known NW artist, Erik Sandgren. All levels of experience are welcome and this will be a multi media class. Plan to paint in whatever medium you wish. The workshop participants will meet at the Trout Creek Campground every morning for demonstrations and discussion. Participants will paint throughout the day, with conversations and comments, but they will be free to visit other near-by sites for painting from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Each afternoon the paintings will be reviewed in relation to the morning's discussion.

Participants are asked to bring their favored media and materials. No extra expense required. Supports (paper, panel and canvas) can vary in size or type, Be bold, bring some of each, and easel, a chair, brushes, paints and palette, weather appropriate hat and layers of clothing. This will be a rain or shine event, windy or not. You will also want to bring along your lunch each day and plenty of water or beverages for hydration. Special note, One or more of each participants paintings created en plein air during the workshop will be on display during the month of October at Art Adventure Gallery.
